Background

Long Term Care at Western Health

Long Term Care (LTC) provides quality institutionally based programs and services within three LTC homes, four Protective Community Residences and four Rural Health Centers. LTC staff work collaboratively with other branches of Western Health in the planning, delivery, and monitoring of LTC programs and services. An interdisciplinary, collaborative model of care is important for delivery of quality LTC programming. Nursing, Social Work, Physiotherapy, Occupational Therapy, Behavior Management, Physicians, Pharmacy, Therapeutic Recreation, and Spiritual Care are all integral parts of the interdisciplinary team within LTC programs and services. In 2020/2021, LTC developed a new Regional LTC Quality Improvement Team composed of residents, family members, clinical staff, and support staff from various LTC sites in the region. As part of Western Health's commitment to quality improvement for residents and their families, it is important to measure resident and family experience. The Quality Improvement Team reviewed and provided input on modifications to the LTC Resident and Family Experience Surveys. The Team, and LTC sites, will use the survey results to guide quality improvement initiatives.

Impact of COVID-19 Pandemic

The World Health Organization declared COVID-19 a global pandemic on March 11, 2021, the world faced profound economic and social impacts. Within Western Health, 2020/2021 was an exception year in many ways. The effects and implications of the pandemic affected all sites, services, and programs throughout the year. LTC residents, families and staff were impacted by many changes in staffing and safety protocols, resident and visitor screening practises, personal protective equipment, program delivery, and visitor restrictions.

Survey Instrument

The validated Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems (CAHPS) Nursing Home Survey: Resident Instrument, developed by Alberta Health Services, was utilized as the basis for the survey administered to LTC residents throughout the Western region. Based on experiences using this survey within Western Health in 2010 and administering a modified version in 2013 and 2015/16, this survey tool was modified in collaboration with the Regional LTC Quality Improvement Team. Questions were modified to fit with current language and terminology for services and providers, to ask about additional services and providers, as well as to help assess the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on resident experience. This modified tool (Appendix A) was used to evaluate resident experiences and administered electronically through the Get Feedback online survey platform.

Method

Western Health promoted the LTC Family Experience Survey broadly on the organization's website and social media pages throughout the administration period of May 3 to June 25, 2021. The LTC facilities contacted residents' family members through mail or email to share a letter outlining the survey and provide the paper copy and/or electronic link. Each facility identified an individual who was available to administer the survey in-person or over the telephone. Posters were also displayed within the facility. Print copies of the surveys and return boxes were available at the visitor screening booth or LTC check-in areas. Completed print format surveys were transcribed into the Get Feedback platform by staff, students, and/or nurses on ease-back.

Sample

All resident family members were given the opportunity to complete the survey. Across the Western Health region, 342 participants completed the survey. For Western Long Term Care (WLTC), 43 family members completed the survey.

Privacy, Confidentiality, and Data Security

Privacy and confidentiality were achieved as the residents names were not reported on the surveys. The electronic survey reports are stored in a password-protected account on the Get Feedback online platform. Any information that could potentially identify the family members or resident was deleted. All downloaded data was stored on a password protected computer in the Monaghan Hall office used by Quality staff.

Data Analysis

Survey data was entered directly into Get Feedback by the respondent or transcribed into the platform from paper copies of the survey. Reports were developed and analyzed in this survey platform. Descriptive statistics were calculated to obtain a general perspective of family members' experiences with LTC services at Western Health. The not applicable and I don't know/I am unsure responses were removed from calculations to provide a more accurate representation of the measures. Comments were compiled based on common themes. Statistics were also filtered for each site or grouping of sites where the sample provided sufficient data to assist in quality improvement initiatives. The following report provides survey results for Western Long Term Care.

Results

Demographics

A total of 43 surveys were completed by family members of residents in WLTC.

Respondents were asked several questions to gain a more thorough understanding of the demographics of the family members being surveyed and their loved ones living in long term care, including relation to the resident, if the resident was discharged from the facility or had died, how long the resident lived there, and if they expected their family member to live in a long term care home permanently. When asked their relationship to the resident, 13% reported that the resident was their spouse or partner, 70% reported their parent, 3% reported their aunt or uncle, 10% reported their sibling, 3% reported their child, and 3% reported their friend.

Although efforts were taken to reduce the potential that a family member or next of kin received a survey after the resident had died, three respondents indicated that the resident was deceased. Of these, two chose to continue the survey and reported based on the residents last six months in the LTC home. Of the respondents, 18% indicated that the resident lived in LTC for twelve months or longer, 48% reported six months to almost twelve months, 25% reported three months to almost six months, 3% reported one month to almost three months, and 8% reported less one month. Of the respondents, 85% reported that they expected the resident to live in a LTC home permanently.

Respondents were also asked to indicate whether they were the individual who had the most experience with the resident's care and 80% reported yes, 17% reported no, and 2% did not know or were not sure. Other questions were asked about finances, power of attorney, and substitute decision maker (See Table 1). The majority of the respondents (85%) were the resident's substitute decision maker and 51% had power of attorney.

Table 1. Family Member Involvement and Role

Question	Yes (%)	No (%)	Don't know (%)
In the last six months, did you help your family with managing finances, such as paying bills or filling out insurance claims?	67	14	N/A
Do you have power of attorney for your family member?	51	37	12
Are you your family member's substitute decision maker (next of kin)?	85	8	8

To gain a more thorough understanding of the demographics of the LTC families, respondents were asked about their age, gender identity, race or ethnicity, and educational background. Of the 42 respondents who reported their age, 14% were 75-84, 43% were 65-74, and 31% were 55-64 and 12% were 45-54. Of the respondents, 67% were female and 31% were male. The majority of the respondents (98%) identified as white/Caucasian and 3% identified as Indigenous/Aboriginal. Of the respondents, 10% had completed grade school or some high school, 15% completed high school, 30% completed post-secondary technical school, 5% completed some university or college, 13% reported that they completed a college diploma, 20% completed a university degree, and 8% had a postgraduate degree. When asked about support with survey completion, 3% of the respondents had assistance.

Visitation and Activities

Family members were asked questions about virtual visits, designation as essential visitors, and in-person visits during the past six months.

Family members were asked if the visitor restrictions implemented during the previous six months had changed their in-person contact with their family member in LTC. Of the respondents, 17% reported a significant decrease, 54% reported some decrease, 17% reported no change, 10% reported some increase, and 2% reported a significant increase.

Family members were asked if, over the last six months, they were designated as an essential visitor or support person for their family member. Of the respondents, 75% reported yes and 25% reported no. Those designated as essential visitors or support persons were asked about how many times they visited the resident in the past six months. Of the respondents, the majority (75%) reported more than 20 times, 11% reported 11-20 times, 4% reported 6-10 times, 7% reported 2-5 times, and 4% reported 0-1 times.

Family members were asked about frequency, purpose, and satisfaction with virtual visits, which were defined as talking on the phone or having video calls (Face Time, Google Duo, etc.). Of the respondents, 58% reporting having virtual visits and 42% reported they did not have virtual visits. Of those who had virtual visits, 19% reported daily visits, 19% reported several times per week, 29% reported weekly, 9% reported having visits several times per month, and 24% monthly or less. Of those who had virtual visits, 62% reported that they had virtual visits because they could not visit in-person due to restrictions, 24% had virtual visits to have additional contact with their family member between their in-person visits, and 24% of respondents reported that they had virtual visits because they live too far away for in-person visits. When asked if they had enough virtual visits to meet their family member's needs, 91% of respondents reported yes and 9% reported no.

Family members also provided comments on their experiences with visitor restrictions and virtual visits. Some family members expressed frustration with the limited number of in-person visitors and the length and frequency of in-visits. Some family members also expressed confusion about discrepancies in visitation and the fact that visitors were limited while some residents were able to leave the facility to visit with family and shop at local businesses.

Family members also expressed concerns with residents being limited to six visitors, with specific concerns raised regarding large families and friends. Suggestions were made to increase the overall number of visitors and support family visits.

While family members were not asked quantitative questions about the activities available to their loved ones, several family members provided comments related to activities. It was noted that the decrease in activity, as well as decreased access to spiritual leaders, had negative effects. Family members also suggested that residents needed more access to computers, music and exercise. Family members themselves want to have more access to take residents for walks around the building, as well as increased access to spaces and activities within the facility.

Resident Care

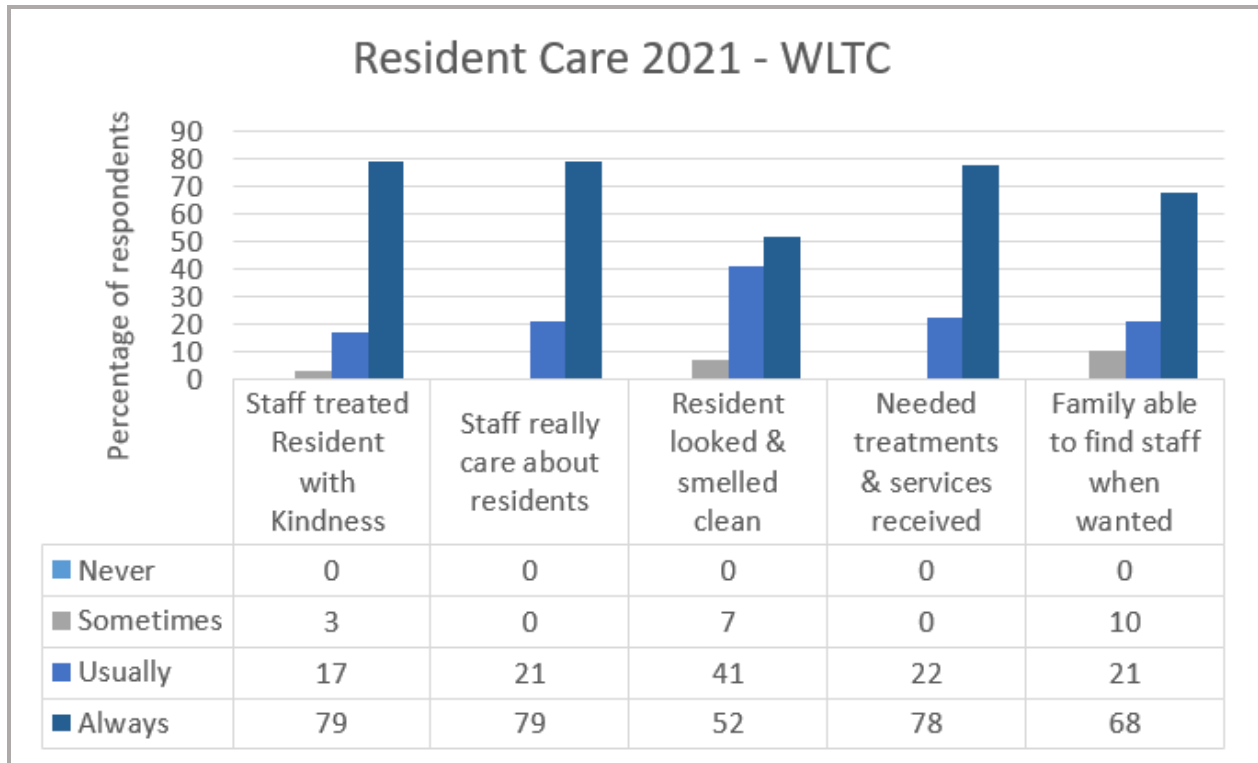

Several questions were asked about health care in terms of the respondents' perspective and experiences over the past six months (See Figure 1). Respondents were asked how often they felt that there was enough nursing staff in the LTC home and, of the respondents, 38% reported always, 41% reported usually, 10% reported sometimes, and 10% reported never. When asked if their family member received all of the health care services and treatments they needed over the past six months, all of the respondents (100%) reported usually or always. When asked if their satisfaction with their family member's access to programs and services had changed because of the pandemic, 72% of respondents reported no change, 10% reported decreased satisfaction, and 17% reported increase satisfaction. When asked if their satisfaction with their family member's access to the health care staff had changed because of the pandemic, 75% of respondents reported no change, 6% reported decreased satisfaction, and 18% reported increased satisfaction.

The majority of the respondents reported that they had always or usually seen the health care team treat the resident with kindness (96%) and that they always or usually felt that the health care staff really cared about the resident (100%).

Respondents were asked how often the resident looked and smelled clean in the last six months and 93% reported usually or always. Family members were also asked if they had ever seen the LTC home staff fail to protect any resident’s privacy while the resident was dressing, showering, bathing, or in a public area and 97% of respondents reported no.

Respondents were asked about their satisfaction with the care provided to their family member by specific services or providers. Overall, the majority of respondents were usually or always satisfied with each of the services or providers. Results for those respondents whose family members availed of the services are outlined in Table 2.

Table 2. Family Member Satisfaction with Services/Providers (percent of respondents)

	Never (%)	Sometimes (%)	Usually (%)	Always (%)

Respondents were also asked in their satisfaction with their family member’s overall care changed because of the pandemic. Of the respondents, 77% reported no change, 3% reported a decrease in satisfaction, and 19% reported an increase in satisfaction.

Respondents were asked if in the last six months, they saw any resident behave in a way that made it hard for LTC staff to provide care such as yelling, pushing, or hitting. Of the 71% who reported seeing this happen, 68% reported that the staff always or usually handled this situation in a way that they felt was appropriate. When asked if they had ever seen any health care staff be rude to their loved one or any other resident, 83% reported never, 10% reported sometimes, and 7% reported always.

Respondents were asked if they helped with the care of the resident when they visited and 71% reported yes, while 18% reported that they felt the long term care home staff expected them to help.

As shown in Table 3, family members were also asked questions about whether they helped residents with specific aspects of their care over the past six months and if this was because they chose to help or if it was because the staff either did not help or made the resident wait too long. When asked if they had helped the resident with eating, 41% reported that they did not help, 59% reported that they chose to help on their own, and no one (0%) reported that they helped because staff did not help or made the resident wait too long. When asked if they had helped the resident with drinking, 27% reported that they did not help and 73% reported that they chose to help on their own. Respondents were also asked if they helped the resident with toileting and 59% reported that they did not help, while 41% reported that they chose to help on their own. No one (0%) reported that they helped with any aspect of care because staff did not help or made the resident wait too long.

The common theme regarding care was that staff were doing a great job and providing excellent care. Several family members provided comments that the LTC home was understaffed. However, the majority of family members who provided comments expressed that they were very happy, pleased, and appreciative of the care provided. Some family members also provided specific compliments. One such example is, “I believe it goes well beyond a job. I’m sure it’s genuine love for the people they serve”.

There were too few negative comments to provide common themes. Individuals concerns were most often prefaced with overall positives and comments about most staff providing quality care. Please refer to the regional report for additional themes regarding resident care.

Resident Health and Wellness

Respondents were asked about the health and wellness of their family member residing in the LTC home. The majority (73%) reported that their family member has serious memory problems because of Alzheimer’s disease, dementia, stroke, accident, or something else. Family members were asked how often the resident was able to make decisions about his or her own daily life, such as when to get up, what clothes to wear, and which activities to do. The majority of the respondents (75%) were able to make decisions at least some of the time. Overall, 25% reported never, 45% reported sometimes, 15% reported usually, and 15% reported always.

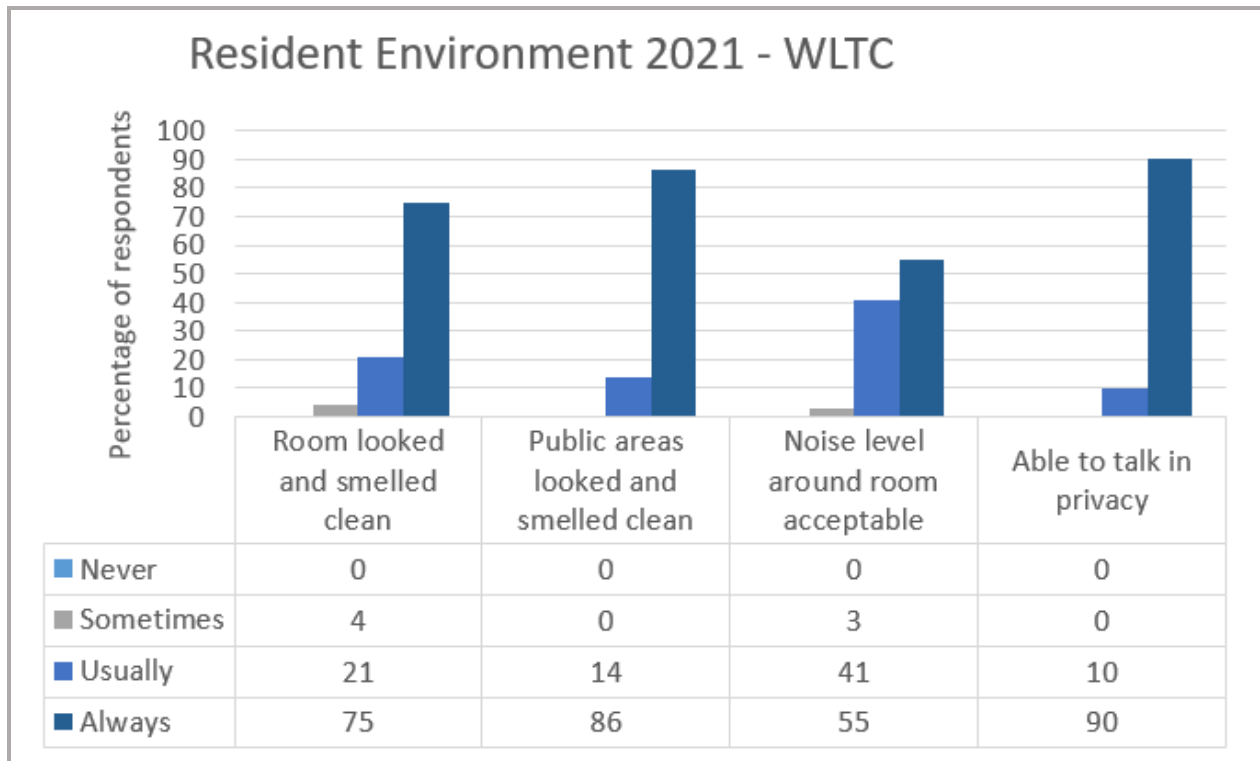

Family members were asked to indicate how they would rate their family member’s overall mood or emotional wellbeing. Of the respondents, 17% reported excellent, 26% reported very good, 19% reported good, 31% reported fair, and 7% reported poor. Family members were also asked to indicate how their family member’s mood had changed because of the pandemic. Of the respondents, 59% reported no change, 23% reported a little worse, 10% reported significantly worse, 5% reported a little better, and 3% reported significantly better.

Environment

Respondents were asked to report on various aspects of the environment based on the last six months (See Figure 2). When respondents were asked how often the residents’ room looked and smelled clean, 96% report usually or always, while 100% reported that the public areas looked and smelled clean. Respondents were also asked if their satisfaction with the cleanliness of the facility changed because of the pandemic and 76% of respondents reported no change and 24% reported increased satisfaction.

The majority of the respondents (96%) reported that the noise level around the residents’ room was acceptable to them. Privacy is also an important aspect of long term care. When respondents were asked how often they were able to find places to talk to the resident in private, 100% reported usually or always. Respondents reported that all their family members had a private room, with no one (0%) having shared a room with another person at the LTC home within the last six months.

Comments about the facility were too few to provide common themes. Some family members did provide comments about the facility being beautiful and clean. Some others did provide comments regarding noise concerns, including that the new meal trays are very loud, that staff socialize around the nursing station, and that it can be loud in rooms close to service areas. Please refer to the regional report for themes regarding the LTC environment.

Residents' Personal Belongings

Questions were asked related to personal belongings over the last six months. When asked how often residents' personal medical belongings (e.g., dentures, hearing aids, eye glasses) were clean and in good condition, 3% reported never, 7% reported sometimes, 39% reported usually, and 50% reported always. When asked how often residents' personal medical belongings were damaged or lost, 75% of respondents reported never, 25% reported sometimes, and no one (0%) reported usually or always. When asked how often clothes that were cleaned by LTC's laundry services were damaged or lost, of those who used the service, 40% reported never, 52% reported sometimes, and 7% reported always.

Very few comments were provided by family members regarding personal belongings. Those comments that were provided were that personal items and laundry had been lost. Please refer to the regional report for themes regarding personal belongings.

Residents' Meals

Family members were asked about their satisfaction with various aspects of the meals provided to their family member at the LTC home. All of the respondents (100%) were usually or always satisfied with the visual appeal, taste and mealtime experience. The majority of respondents (93%) were also usually or always satisfied with food temperature. When asked if their satisfaction with the meals provided to their family member had changed because of the pandemic, 77% of respondents reported no change, 3% reported decreased satisfaction, and 20% reported increased satisfaction. When asked if their satisfaction with their family member's mealtime experience (how meals are served) had changed because of the pandemic, 71% of respondents reported no change, 11% reported decreased satisfaction, and 18% reported increased satisfaction.

Very few comments were provided by family members regarding meals. Please refer to the regional report for common themes.

Access, Communication, and Family Involvement

Respondents were asked several questions about overall care and communication with the health care team in the last six months. Of those who reported that they had tried to find health care staff, 89% reported they could usually or always find one when they wanted one. When asked if their satisfaction with their access to the health care staff had changed because of the pandemic, 73% of respondents reported no change, 9% reported decreased satisfaction, and 18% reported increased satisfaction. The significant majority (97%) of the respondents reported that the health care team always or usually treated them with courtesy and respect.

Questions about obtaining information were asked in relation to the last six months. Of the respondents, 88% reported that they usually or always received the information they needed about their family member. When asked if things were explained in a way that was easy for them to understand, 97% reported usually or always. When asked if they were discouraged from asking questions about their family member, 88% of respondents reported never, 8% reported sometimes, 3% reported usually, and no one (0%) reported always. Respondents were asked if they got all of the information they wanted about payments or expenses. Of the 76% of respondents who asked for this information, 94% usually or always got all the information they wanted.

When respondents were asked if they were ever unhappy with the care the resident received, 22% of respondents reported yes and 78% reported no. Of those who reported having concerns, 89% reported that they spoke to long term care home staff about this concern and 76% were usually or always satisfied with the way the staff handled these problems and 25% were sometimes satisfied. Only 5% of respondents reported that they stopped themselves from talking to any long term care home staff about their concerns because they thought staff would take it out on the resident. This supports that family members feel open and safe to bring forward concerns.

Family members were asked about their involvement in care and experience with case conferences. Of the respondents, 97% reported being involved in decisions about the residents' care over the last six months. Of those who were involved in decisions, 92% reported being usually or always involved as much as they wanted to be. Respondents were asked about whether they had been part of a care conference over the last 12 months, either in person by telephone or by videoconference. Of the respondents, 59% reported yes, 19% reported no because they chose not to attend, 16% reported no because they were not given the opportunity, and 5% reported that they did not know or were unsure.

Family members also provided comments regarding their experience and satisfaction with the LTC staff and their communication with family members. The main theme was that family members are largely satisfied with their treatment by and communication with the LTC staff. Common positive statements about staff included that staff were kind, respectful, and kept family members informed. One suggestion for improvement was to have family meetings with all family members prior to residents moving into the home, as a way to improve the transition.

Overall

When asked to rate the LTC home, on average, respondents rated the home at 8.81 (range 0-10; 0 being the worst possible and 10 being the best possible). When family members were asked to rate the overall care their family member received at the LTC home, the respondents rated overall care at 9.21 (range 0-10; 0 being the worst possible and 10 being the best possible). When asked if they would recommend this LTC home to someone needing long term care, 80% of the respondents reported definitely yes, 20% reported probably yes, and no one (0%) reported probably or definitely no.

Respondents were also asked if they felt that the protocols and restriction put in place during the pandemic have worked to keep their family member safe from getting COVID-19. Of the respondents, 76% reported definitely yes, 17% reported probably yes, 5% reported probably no, and 2% reported definitely no.

Family members also provided a general suggestion to provide direct deposit as a payment option. As there were minimal comments regarding some aspects of residents' care and experience, please refer to the regional report for additional common themes.

Strengths and Opportunities for Improvement

Overall results indicate that WLTC services have many strengths, including availability, kindness, and compassion of the health care staff and the involvement of family members in decision making. Respondents also reported being satisfied with the service providers, the overall care of their family member, and their own treatment by staff. Other overall strengths include cleanliness of the physical environment, overall noise level, and privacy.

Also admirable is that WLTC has responded to the pandemic without any significant negative impact on family members' experience and satisfaction. When asked about the impact of the pandemic on their satisfaction with various aspects of their experience and their family member' care, the majority of residents reported no change or improvements in their satisfaction with their access to health care staff, the residents' access to programs and treatment, and overall care, among other factors.

The survey identified the following areas for WLTC to explore for opportunities for improvement:

- Variety and frequency of recreation activities;
- Quality and variety of meals;
- Responses to resident behaviours such as yelling, pushing or hitting;
- Protection against loss or damage of residents' clothing; and
- Increased access for families, including number of visitors and frequency of visits, as well as advocacy for the designation of an essential visitor for every resident at all times.

Western Health Family Experience Survey 2021

Long Term Care Family Experience Survey

This survey is part of our efforts to understand how families view their experience of having a loved one in long term care. Any information that you decide to share will help us identify areas for improvement. Western Health will post a summary of the information from all families who respond on our website: www.westernhealth.nl.ca. This report will be available in September 2021.

If you prefer to complete the survey electronically, it is available here: www.westernhealth.nl.ca/survey

We hope that you will take the time to complete the survey. Your participation is greatly appreciated. Your participation in this survey is voluntary and will not affect your loved ones health care. We have prepared the survey to be anonymous and will not identify you as a participant. Please complete the survey by June 25, 2021.
